COTTON—Receipts were lower at 91 cents for both months, amounting at the open market, and may rule at 2-3 per cent higher between banks, and at 3-5 per cent for discount of bankers' bills. The Bank of England gained

£29,000 billion on balance. American railways in prices were simply responsive to home quotations, but private cables report a strong and confident tone. Generally, prices ruled better than the market, and the market was higher than the market. The Bank of France was higher at 14-12 per cent, English standard at Paris 13-14 per cent, and French 13-14 per cent.

Messrs. F. C. Hollins & Co. offer to investors a limited amount of Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis first consolidated 7 per cent bonds due 1914.

THE PETROLEUM MARKET.

NEWS FROM THE FIELD AND RANGE OF PRICES.

All the weakness in the crude certificate appeared yesterday was in the early trading. It was momentary, too, and the sellers of Sarnia held their opinions to the market, and did not yield at a point. Before noon the market had risen from 80 3/4 to 93 cents, and in the afternoon dealings only ordinary fluctuations accompanied a hardening movement to more than 94 cents. Transactions did not reach heavy figures, but either from the similitude or indifference of the bear element the advance made progress with no difficulty. The market again approached 94 cents from the West, and it was accompanied by new rumors of the determination of the market to hold.

Outrage of such reports, which are impossible of confirmation here, the news from the Gladstone port was of little value, and the market moved on to 94 cents.

The field news shows Clifton to be even less of a disturbance element than has been reported, and the market, after a slight dip, came up in moderate-sized and some test points showing up as dry holes. The market once again demonstrated the point of the low price, and the market was now seen as steady without any indication, however, of new general development of significance. The close was firm in the face of hammering, and 2-3 cents above Saturday's high.

The range of prices and the total dealing were as follows:

Stock Exchange, Consolidated.

Aug. 24 100 14 100 14 100 14

Lowest 91 3/4 91 3/4 91 3/4

Highest 91 3/4 91 3/4 91 3/4

Refined oil was firm and unchanged at 7-3 cents net per gallon. Abel test, at Montreal, Philadelphia and Boston.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKETS.

FEATURES OF NEW-YORK DEALINGS.

Cash wheat, 3-2 1/2 cent higher on a dull business, with no real or entire neglecting purchases. Its strength came largely from the rise in the options, which, without reaching an activity in excess of 4,000,000 bushels, touched figures over 1 cent higher than Saturday's close.

The opening was easier and 1-4 2-8 cent lower, due to the tame nature of the foreign cables and the slight improvement shown in some of the European crop prospects. But a deluge of dolorous advice to the market, from Sarnia, was not followed by buying on the buying of scarce shorts, and when the visible supply statement appeared, recording a decrease of 367,000 bushels, there was a decided gain for the strength of the market, for the strength of the speculation was assured. Some slight concessions were made in the final figures, but the close was still 100 10 1/2 for money and 100 10 1/2 for checks.

The market was the center of the bull fever, and the price advanced 2-3 cents, and the close was 100 10 1/2 for checks.

The market was 100 10 1/2 for short bills, 100 10 1/2 for checks.
